Special Abilities

Attach: You can use your Primary Operation to attach your Grappling Hook to a point or object within range. If you attempt to attach to a creature instead, the creature must make a Dodge against the Dodge DC of the grappling hook. Until you use a Tertiary Operation to release the Grappling Hook neither you nor the target can be more than 40 feet apart. If the target is an object of less than 30 pounds or a creature of your size or smaller that fails a Lifting interaction against your own Lifting interaction, it will follow you at a speed equal to yours to remain within 40 feet of you.

Approach: As a Secondary Operation, you can instantly move up to 40 feet closer (or, if the target is an object of 30 pounds or less or a creature of your size or smaller that fails a Lifting interaction against you, move the object up to 40 feet closer to you) to a target you have already attached to. If traveling towards a targeted creature or object in this way brings you into melee range, you may make a single melee Punch attack against the target as a Tertiary Operation. If you travel within 5 feet of a vehicle in this way, you may make the necessary Agility or Handling interaction necessary for hijacking expending no Operations provided that there is no cockpit or that it has been sufficiently damaged.

Built-in: The Grappling Hook does not use a Tertiary Operation to switch to.
